The Martingale Strategy: For beginners and new players, the Martingale strategy is a betting system that involves doubling your bet after every loss. The idea is that when you eventually win, you will recover all your previous losses and gain a profit equal to your original bet.

Fibonacci Sequence: A betting system based on the Fibonacci sequence of numbers. The player bets the amount of the previous two bets combined. This system is considered less risky than the Martingale system.

Player's Parlay: A bet that combines several individual bets into one. The player wins only if all the individual bets in the parlay win. The potential payout is much higher than for individual bets, but the risk is also higher.

Double Street: A bet that covers two adjacent streets on the roulette table. The player wins if the ball lands on any of the numbers covered by the bet.

For those looking for larger wins, the best betting strategy is to use a system that allows for larger bets, such as the Martingale or Fibonacci systems. However, it is important to remember that roulette is a game of chance, and there is no guaranteed way to win.
